MARKS: 150

This memorandum consists of 23 pages.

1. SOURCE-BASED QUESTIONS

1.1 The following cognitive levels were used to develop source-based questions:

| COGNITIVE LEVELS | HISTORICAL SKILLS | WEIGHTING OF QUESTIONS |
|------------------|---|------------------------|
| LEVEL 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Extract evidence from sources Selection and organisation of relevant information from sources Define historical concepts/terms | 30% (15) |
| LEVEL 2 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpretation of evidence from sources Explain information gathered from sources Analyse evidence from sources | 40% (20) |
| LEVEL 3 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Interpret and evaluate evidence from sources Engage with sources to determine its usefulness, reliability, bias and limitations Compare and contrast interpretations and perspectives presented in sources and draw independent conclusions | 30% (15) |

1.2 The information below indicates how source-based questions are assessed:

- In the marking of source-based questions credit needs to be given to any other valid and relevant viewpoints, arguments, evidence or examples.
- In the allocation of marks emphasis should be placed on how the requirements of the question have been addressed.
- In the marking guideline the requirements of the question (skills that need to be addressed) as well as the level of the question are indicated in italics.

2. ESSAY QUESTIONS

2.1 The essay questions require candidates to:

- Be able to structure their argument in a logical and coherent manner. They need to select, organise and connect the relevant information so that they are able to present a reasonable sequence of facts or an effective argument to answer the question posed. It is essential that an essay has an introduction, a coherent and balanced body of evidence and a conclusion.

2.2 Marking of essay questions

- Markers must be aware that the content of the answer will be guided by the textbooks in use at the particular centre.
- Candidates may have any other relevant introduction and/or conclusion than those included in a specific essay marking guideline for a specific essay.
- When assessing open-ended source-based questions, learners should be credited for any other relevant responses.

2.3 Global assessment of the essay

The essay will be assessed holistically (globally). This approach requires the educator to score the overall product as a whole, without scoring the component parts separately. This approach encourages the learner to offer an individual opinion by using selected factual evidence to support an argument. The learner will not be required to simply regurgitate 'facts' in order to achieve a high mark. This approach discourages learners from preparing 'model' answers and reproducing them without taking into account the specific requirements of the question. Holistic marking of the essay credits learners' opinions supported by evidence. Holistic assessment, unlike content-based marking, does not penalise language inadequacies as the emphasis is on the following:

- The construction of argument;
- The appropriate selection of factual evidence to support such argument;
- The learner's interpretation of the question.

2.4 Assessment procedures of the essay

2.4.1 Keep the synopsis in mind when assessing the essays.

2.4.2 During the first reading of the essay ticks need to be awarded for a relevant introduction (indicated by a bullet in the marking guideline/memorandum), each of the main points/aspects that is properly contextualised (also indicated by bullets in the marking guideline/memorandum) and a relevant conclusion (indicated by a bullet in the marking guideline/memorandum) e.g. in an answer where there are 5 main points there will be 7 ticks.

2.4.3 The following additional symbols can also be used:

- introduction, main aspects and conclusion not properly contextualised

- wrong statement _____
- irrelevant statement |
|
|
- repetition R
- analysis A√
- interpretation 1√

2.5 The matrix*Use of the matrix in the marking of essays

In the marking of essays, the criteria as provided in the matrix for marking essays should be used. In assessing the essay note should be taken of both the content and presentation. At the point of intersection of the content and presentation based on the seven competency levels, a mark should be awarded.

- 2.5.1 The first reading of an essay will be to determine to what extent the main aspects have been covered and to allocate the content level (on the matrix).

| | | |
|---|---------|--|
| C | LEVEL 4 | |
| | | |

- 2.5.2 The second reading of an essay will relate to the level (on the matrix) of presentation.

| | | |
|---|---------|--|
| C | LEVEL 4 | |
| P | LEVEL 3 | |

- 2.5.3 Allocate an overall mark with the use of the matrix.

QUESTION 5:

[Plan and construct an original argument based on relevant evidence using analytical and interpretative skills.]

SYNOPSIS

In writing this essay, candidates must explain to what extent the economic policies that were introduced in the Congo and Tanzania were successful after attaining independence from colonial rule up to the 1980s.

MAIN ASPECTS

Candidates should include the following aspects in their response:

- Introduction: Candidates should take a line of argument and show how the Congo and Tanzania developed their economic policies after independence.

ELABORATION

- The economic situation in the Congo and Tanzania at independence
 - In both countries the economy was reliant on the export of minerals and raw materials
 - Neither the Congo nor Tanzania had well developed infrastructure (roads, railway links)
 - In both countries the majority of people were small scale subsistence farmers
- The policies introduced to stabilise and improve their economies were largely a failure

The Congo

- Zairianisation (replaced foreigners with Zairians) failed due to (inexperience/corruption/mismanagement/neglect)
- Application of retrocession (replacing Zairians with foreigners)
- The Congo continued to earn foreign currency from mining and the export of minerals during this period but the wealth was concentrated in the hands of a small elite
- The Congo did not diversify its economy so it remained heavily reliant on prices paid for export goods
- The Congo continued to remain heavily reliant on foreign aid and loans from its supporters in the west which created a dependency syndrome

Tanzania:

- Nyerere attempted to resist neo-colonialism by nationalising industries and not attempting to modernise the economy using foreign aid or loans
- Ujaama, the economic and social policy of 'familyhood', resulted in the economy becoming stagnant
- Villagisation (collective villages) improved service delivery/attempted to create a more stable society that was largely free from economic inequalities
- Farmers refused to leave their ancestral land therefore agricultural production fell
- Arusha Declaration (abolished exploitation/led to the reduction of income gap between the poor and the rich/ownership of the country's resources) Most nationalised companies went bankrupt
- Exports dropped rapidly
- By 1980s Tanzania depended on foreign aid and had been forced to take loans from the IMF leading to heavy reliance on foreign capital

Conclusion: Candidates should tie their argument with a relevant conclusion
